

GIRL POWERED NUTRITION: PARTNERING WITH THE WORLD ASSOCIATION OF GIRL GUIDES AND GIRL SCOUTS TO PROMOTE HEALTHIER LIVES FOR GIRLS AND YOUNG WOMEN

Opportunity

Nutrition has a vital impact on women, girls, communities and outcomes for generations to come. Yet, women and girls' nutrition is not a funding nor a policy priority. One billion women and girls worldwide suffer from malnutrition. As the world's only movement for every girl and any girl, reaching 10 million girls in 150 countries, the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS) is in a unique position to shift this narrative by promoting girl-led change through nutrition education, community action and advocacy.

Investment

With support from NLIFT, WAGGGS has developed the Girl Powered Nutrition Programme, an educational nutrition badge curriculum being piloted in four countries where malnutrition is a major problem: Madagascar, the Philippines, Sri Lanka and Tanzania. Girls will also reach out to their communities to share nutrition knowledge and mobilize efforts to implement projects that will increase girls' access to better nutrition. WAGGGS is capturing and disseminating lessons learned from the curriculum to influence decision makers at a national and global level.

Innovation and leverage

The NLIFT investment will leverage WAGGGS extensive network to educate girls on the importance of good nutrition, which will have an impact on their future as well as the future of their families and entire communities. These girls will also be empowered to speak out for nutrition at national and global fora, creating a new generation of nutrition champions.
